CARRIAGE

Struck By Pennsylvania Flyer and Three Occupants Were Instantly Killed, One Hurt.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 20.-A carriage in which were four young people returning from a dance at a summer resort hotel just across the Ohio state line was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train. Three of the occupants were instantly killed and one seriously injured. The dead: Charles S. Sherer, 32; John Moore, 32; Mamie Hall, 28. The injured: Miss Bertha Hill, 25. The ris haruini adt has saihod halonem were picked up by the train crew and carried to New Paris, O., from where they were returned to this city. It is believed that the curtains of the buggy, protecting the occupants from a drenching rain, prevented the driver from seeing the approaching train.

Member From Cork. Cork, Ireland, Aug. 20. - William and no defense was offered. Bond was O'Brien was re-elected member of parliament for Cork unopposed. It is not filed the affidavit on which Mrs. Ginknown whether he will accept, but the local executive of the United Irish league will use every effort to induce Mr. O'Brien to return to parliament. Mr. O'Brien resigned his seat in parliament for Cork in 1903, and as a member of the governing party of the United Irish league, owing to differences of opinion with members of the Nationalist party.

Rules Against the Packers. Chicago, Aug. 20. - Corporation Counsel Tolman has given to Mayor Harrison an opinion declaring the packers at the stockyards have no ing houses. The opinion was given in response to the request of the mayor. The loss is $4,000. who was informed by the Chicago Federation of Labor that the packers were boarding men contrary to law. The opinion of Corporation Counsel Tolman declares that the packers are not violating any provision of the ordinance regulating lodging houses for the reason that they are not letting lodgings for hire. The opinion does hold, however, that the regulations at Sturgis, Ky. It is said more may calling for fire escapes and exits in buildings where big numbers of people are housed have not been complied with, and suggests that the packers be given a period of three days to commence the alterations in their build ings or to find new quarters for the men. The mayor after receiving the opinion sent it to Police Chief O'Neill ers obeyed the law.

Business Conditions. New York, Aug. 20.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Confidence in continued improvement of trade has been somewhat unsettled by sensational events in the wheat market and the lack of harmony between labor and capital. It is becoming evident that estimates of the wheat crop must be reduced, although other agricultural news is much better than usual. Some disappointment is criticised by the emperor, while the also felt by those who counted upon an early resumption of activity in building operations and other industries hampered by labor controversies. Others news of the week has contained much of an encouraging nature. In several manufacturing lines there is less idle machinery, and vis iting retail buyers have stimulated jobbing trade, especially in dry goods and kindred lines. Railway earnings thus far reported for the first week of August show a gain of 1.4 per cent as compared with last year's figures.

Favor Strike Action. New York, Aug. 20.-More than thousand conductors and guards of the elevated roads of Manhattan and the Bronx, which is under lease and is being operated by the Interborough Rapid Transit company, met and voted on strike action as a result of an alleged breach of an agreement between the members of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes and the officials of the Interborough company. It was declared that nearly every vote cast favored strike action.

Deluge In Manchuria. General Kuroki's Headquarters in the Field, via Fusan, Korea, Aug. 20.— This section of Manchuria is at present experiencing the heaviest rains of the season. The strong downpours of 8-13-2t the past week flooded the valleys and turned brooks into rivers. The water quickly disappears, however, before a few days of sunshine. It is believed that last week's was the last severe storm, an unusual quantity of rain having fallen. With the exception of meetings between outposts, there have been no hostilities recently.

Populace Demands Action.

Tokyo, Aug. 20.-The Japanese are growing impatient at the delay in the decision of the status of the Russian cruiser Askold at Shanghai The Askold has docked and is refitting and evidently intends to endeavor to rejoin the Russian fleet and resume its place in the naval campaign. This is declared to be an open violation of neutrality, which the Chinese government evidently is powerless to prevent. Many Japanese openly urge the dispatch of a squadron to Shanghai to seize and remove the Askold.

General Attack Planned.

Chefoo, Aug. 20.-The steamer Pechili, which has just arrived here, reports that she met seven Japanese torpedo-boat destroyers, which entered the harbor of Chefoo. The Japanese informed the captain of the Pechili that they were seeking Russian destroyers and torpedo boats which had escaped from PortArthur. Heavy firing was heard by the Pechili. The Japanese stated that a general attack along their line at Port Arthur had been planned for today.

Russians Retake Positions.

Chefoo, Aug. 20.--Chinese who have arrived here from Port Arthur declare that the Japanese position at Palung Chang from which they poured a heavy fire into Port Arthur and the inner forts, has been retaken, the Japanese retiring to Shushiyen. The Ger man authorities at Tsingtau have sent a guard of 100 men to a point 15 miles east of that place for the purpose of frustrating an expected attempt on the part of the Japanese to erect a wireless telegraph station.

Gunboat Strikes a Mine.

London, Aug. 20 -A dispatch to the Japanese legation from Tokyo says "According to a report from our watch tower near Port Arthur a Russian gunboat of the Otvajni type struck a mine p. m. Thursday."

Must Disarm or Sail.

Shanghai, Aug. 20.-The Chinese 'rao Tai is determined that Chinese Russians. He has ordered the Rusharbor at noon today and the cruiser Askold before noon tomorrow. Should they fail to do so they must disarm.

The cruisers sought refuge in the harbor in a damaged condition after the sea fight of August 10. They have since been repairing.

A Proposition Has Been Made to Fans in Newark Are Anxious to Pre-Transfer Game, Nov. 5, to Y. M. C. A. Field.

The athletic authorities of Denison and Kenyon, and Secretary Ebersole of the Newark Y. M. C. A. have un der consideration a suggestion to play the Denison-Kenyon football game, scheduled for Granville November 5. at he Y. M. C. A. park in Newark. It seems that Kenyon is very willing and the matter appears to be up Denison. From a financial standpoint such a transfer would be very beneficial to both teams and there does not seem to be any good reason why it cannot be made. There are a large number of football enthusiasts termined if such a thing is possible in Newark who would attend the game to prevent the going under of the if played here, but could not if played civb. Rules Against the Packers.

Chicago, Aug. 20. - Corporation Counsel Tolman has given to Mayor Harrison an opinion declaring the eral miles south of town was struck nackers at the stockyards have no by lightning and totally consumed by legal right to house men in their pack- fire, together with a large amount of ing houses. The opinion was given in hay, grain and farming implements. response to the request of the mayor, who was informed by the Chicago Federation of Labor that the packers were boarding men contrary to law. The opinion of Corporation Counsel Tolman declares that the packers are not violating any provision of the ordinance regulating lodging houses for the reason that they are not letting lodgings for hire. The opinion does hold, however, that the regulations calling for fire escapes and exits in buildings where big numbers of people are housed have not been complied with, and suggests that the packers be given a period of three days to commence the alterations in their buildings or to find new quarters for the men. The mayor after receiving the opinion sent it to Police Chief O'Neill with instructions to see that the packers obeyed the law.

Mr. Davis 80 Years Young.

The indiscreet reference by Mr. Root in his notification speech to President Roosevelt regarding the age of Mr. Davis, the Democratic candidate for Vice President, have already recoiled on that gentleman's head. People realize that one's age is not counted by years alone, with a man of Mr. Davis' constitution and personality. Instead of calling Mr. Davis 30 years eld, it would be more proper to call him 80 years young.

George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, in an article on the Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates, thus refers to

Mr. Davis: "Take the extreme case, Mr. Davis, who will soon be 81. The idea of nominating a man that old seemed absurd, and so it would be ordinarily. But Mr. Davis is not ordinary. A few years ago the present writer was with him on a trip to the West Virginia wilds. There was all night travelling with early morning starts, long stretches Davis was the oldest in the party but the youngest in action; the promptest to bed at night; the earliest up in the everybody and everything, whether upon the mountain grades, or down in the coal mines So, although over men at forty."

The Latest Republican Fake.

stories which some of the Republican gressed very satisfactorily and will organs are publishing, their editors must be in great fear over the political outlook. No tale is too weird or wild for them to eagerly seize up on. About the silliest story, however, that has thus far appeared is that which represents Chairman Taggart as having visited Judge Parker and informed him that there was no hope for his election. Now, really, this story would insult the freshest marine who ever ventured on shipboard, but it was deemed worthy of prominent exploitation by Republican editors, who are desperately grasping at every overwhelmed by the Democratic deluge which they see straight ahead.

THE NEED OF REFORM

without a statement of the fact that now, as in 1876 and 1892, "reform is  ${f ecessary}^{f v}$  in the conduct of the Govrascals to be turned out, the neces aty for a change is not apparent.

Judge Parker approves the St. Louis platform's demand for "a thorough in estigation of these executive departnents already known to teem with corruption, as well as other departments suspected of harboring corruption, and the punishment of ascertained corruptionists without fear or favor or regard to persons." He likewise indorses the demand for reasonable retrenchment, and insists that the Government "should practise economy in | no official juggling can conceal. In the expenditure of the moneys of the people, and to that end should return once more to the metods of the founders of the Republic."

That there is need of a searching in estigation and a determined prosecution of culprits is evident to everybody who has knowledge of the condition of affairs at Washington and elsewhere. Although Candidate Roosevelt had the ONCE! hardihood to say in his speech of acceptance that "never has the administration of the Government been on a cleaner and higher level." President truth in saying: "While there may have been as much official corruption in former years, there has been more go-ahead age. developed and brought to light in the immediate past than in the preceding entury of our country's history."

For all the corruption that has been prought to light how few of the real culprits-the men "higher up"-have bee punished! A few underlings bore the weight of the President's wrath at the exposiure of the postoffice scan-And the Postmaster-General under whose administration those frauds | sary?."

It is perhaps not strange, but will be regarded by the taxpayers as signi-had a large surplus in the Treasury ficant, that the words "economy," "rerenchment" and "reform," once the ule of the nation and the shibboleth of statesmen, do not once appear in your entire speech of acceptance-NOT

No explanation of this omnious silence has been given. There is every eason to think that the President beieves, with the other politicians of his party, that "this is a Two-Billion-Dollar country"-and that even reasonable economy ad common prudence are old-fashioned ideas, out of place in this

Upon what other theory can the fact be explained, as stated by The World's Washington corespondent, that-

President Roosevelt's Administration for four years has added $18,000,000 a month, or $600,000 a day, or $2,500 an hour more to the cost of Government than was paid during the last four years of President Cleveland's Administration?

week witnesses the practical opening of the Democratic campaign in Ohio. The new headquarters in the Hayden bank building on East Broad street in this city have been established and a rlerical force is now at work under the direction of Secretary Nichols, of the State Executive committee, and Robert Marshall, private secretary to Chairman Garber. Mr. Garber is not expected to appear at headquarters before the first of September, but in his absence the work of organization is making rapid progress. Secretary Nichols put in appearance on Monday to remain throughout the campaign. He found that such valuable work in the way of organization had been accomplished in advance of his arrival and Hamilton county, with a fair is the general opinion that the govunder Mr. Marshall's direction. In Cuyahoga county there 1905. will also be the strongest kind of ar effort to unite all Democratic interests on the national and State ticket and redeem the county from the Republican plurality registered a year ago. There is every indication that this effort will be successful. In Franklin county the way is clear for the reelection of Congressman Badger and a very substantial gain on the State and national tickets, with a possibility that a political revolution may occur which will give the county to the Democrats. Factionalism has been wiped out in this city and county, that event having been materially promoted by the Democratic primaries held last week. In the other large counties of the State the situation is equally encomraging and it may be stated positive by that the Democratic campaign in suffered to grow weaker.

NEWARK MILLS RAISED PRICE OF FLOUR SATURDAY.

Trade Saturday Morning-A!I the Cereals Advance.

All the local flour mills Saturday advanced the price of flour 20 cents a barrel. The millers are paying $1 bushel for wheat.

Chicago, Aug. 20.-Reports of lower temperatures in the northwest, to gether with sensational accounts of rust damage, caused a further wild advance of wheat this morning. At Minneapolis and Chicago the September option took a rise of 2 1-4 cents, and at St. Louis the advance was 15-8 cents.

However, the rush for profit taking forced the cereal down amid some of the wildest scenes ever witnessed on the Chicago board. Both corn and oats scored an advance over yesterday's closing prices.

New September closed last night $1095-8, opened this morning at Bible school at 9:30; communion at $1.11. At 16 o'clock it sold for $1.10. 3:30, followed by sermon. A full at- May wheat opened $1.16, reached endance of the membership is desired $1.16 1-4 and dropped to $1.15 1-2 at

THANKFUL PEOPLE.

They Are Found in Every Part of Newark.

Many citizens of Newark have good reason to be thankful for burdens lifted and aching backs which they bore patiently for years. Scores tell about their experience publicly. Here's a case of it: F. Lisey, of Lisey & Fink, says: was distressed and annoyed by a pain across my back just over the kidneys. It was rendered more acute every failed to afford me any helief and at last I stopped using medicine and went and got a package of Doan's Kidney Pills at Crayton's. Their use proved effectual and my back has remained sound ever since I took the treatment. I have as a natural result no hesitancy in allowing my name to be used in rec-

NEW VERSE

Added to Kittredge's Famous Old Song, "Tenting on the Ola Camp Greund."

Boston, Mass., Aug 20,-Thousands of people have been singing for more than forty years "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," and have been stirred by its pathes and suggestion. So popular has the song become, that the eriginal author, Mr. Walter Kittredge, has added a new verse, which brings the song up to date.

This verse was written by Mr Kitt redge under conditions which are ic teresting. Coming here from his home at Reeds Ferry, New York, to attend the G. A. R. encan-pment, he dropped in to see his publishers. They intermed him that in order to obtain a renewal of his famous var song's copyright, a verse should be udded Mr. Kittredge said he would think about it. He went ever to the Common beneath the clm. and in ten minutes returned with the extra verse written on the back of an old encelone. It reads: "The war is over on the old camp

Each of its owners had added to it as his needs required or his taste dictated, and now it was composed of many styles of architecture, but the jumble, as a whole, was beautiful rather than incongruous, as by's followers, who were attacking him, might have been expected.

As evening drew on the thin crescent of a new moon shed a faint, mysterious light over the scene, as if it were a white sickle hung up in the sky, use-England to reap save that of death. The dim luster outlined the mansion, and the aspect was one of peace, scarcely troubled by the footfall of a sentinel slouching along the grass in front, carelessly trailing his pike, with nothing of alert military manner about

Striding athwart the broken lawn to an oaken door, he smote it with the butt of his pike, crying:

"Peace within there. The general is coming."

There was an instant husbing of the coarse song, then a laugh, and when fome one in nasal tones raised the slow tune of a hymn the laughter became more uproarious, subsiding gradually, however, as voice after voice joined the drone. The sentinel now walked over to the main entrance and said to some one within the hall: "I think the general is coming."

The chief officer now stepped forward and said:

"You will surely stop the night, excellency? Everything is prepared." "No. Did my order to stay the execution of Wentworth reach you in time, Colonel Porlock?"

The colonel led him into the great dining room, one end of which was occupied by a shattered window, while the other was crossed by a gallery, and above all, very dim in the feeble illumination of two candies and some smoky torches, could be distinguished the knobs and projections of a timbered roof.

The vast room was almost complete ly bare of furniture, with the exception of a high backed carved chair which doubtless belonged to it, and a stout oaken table taken from some other part of the house, replacing the long hospitable board that had witnessed many a festive gathering, but which had been used for firewood by the troopers. The general gazed about the ample apartment for a moment, as one who had never seen it before, estimating his bearings with the shrewd eye of a practiced soldier; then he pushed the table until it stood lengthwise with the room, instead of across. as before; glauced at the gallery and regarding their relative positions, drew up the chair and seated himself, setting the two candles by the edge farthest from him.

He rode out from the grounds of the hall, fighting his way, as it appeared, against a band of Rudand ran into the arms of our men, who were watching for him. The attacking party, seeing, as they supposed, an unknown force of rescuers, turned and fled. The night was dark, and the acless because there was no harvest in count of what took place is confused, but Wentworth was carried back to Corbiton, tried and condemned for deserting while on duty and holding commerce with the enemy."

"Umph! What version did Wentworth give of the affair?"

"He maintained he was no traitor, but did not give any explanation of his absence from duty.

"What view did the court take of this affray?"

"They thought it merely a feint to cover the retreat of a discovered traitor. The night, as I said, was dark, and our men, being mounted, could not move silently. Knowing the house would be searched if Wentworth was hidden, this plan of seeming enmity against him was prepared beforehand in case of discovery."

"How old a man is Rudby?"

"Nearing fifty." "What family has he?"

"No, excellency." "Humph! Send Captain Bent to me with the papers. When he is gone I wish you to bring me a trooper, some silent man who can be depended upon.

When Captain Bent arrived, he handed to the general the papers he had taken from Armstrong. Cromwell examined them with great minuteness by the light of the candles, then set them in a bunch on the table without comment of any kind.

"Did your prisoner resist at all or make any attempt at escape?"

"No, general."

"He made no protest then?"

"He said England and Scotland were at peace, that he therefore needed no passport; that his arrest was illegal, and that you would be the first to admit as much."

"Humph. Was he thoroughly searched? Are you sure he had no other papers than these?"

"Truth to tell, your honor, and know a very good reason for it."

"Humph! And what is that?" "Some nights since, as 1 was making for the English line, I stopped for refreshment at an inn where I had been accustomed to halt in my travels. To my amazement, I was refused adeftrance, and which was more surprised—the dozen there gathered together, or me, with their sentry under my oxter-it would be difficult to tell. Swords were drawn, and I might have come badly out of the encounter had it not been that a friend of mine among the assemblage recognized me.'

"I suppose you wish to mention no names?"

"I see no objection," continued Armstrong innocently. "I take it that the men were quite within their right in gathering there, although I contended they exceeded their right in trying to keep me out of a public house. My gentlemen, finding I was for England. asked me to carry a message to the king, but I explained that I had no wish to interfere in matters which did not concern me, and they parted to meet again somewhere else. There was a great splore about a spy that eseaped, and I have no doubt if he saw me there and heard the proposal made to me be might well have brought my name and description across the border. At least that was the way I reasoned it out with myself."

"It is very like you are right. Spies, unfortunately, seem to be necessary when a country is in a state of war. Many unjustifiable acts are then committed, including the arresting of innocent men. But I am anxious nothing shall be done that will give just cause of offense to Scotland, a God fearing country and a friendly. When such injustice happens, as it has happened in your case. "I may go the length of Manchester or Birmingham. The distance and the time will depend on the state of trade '

"If you will tell me places you intend to visit I will include them in the pass I shall now write for you."

"That I cannot say just at the moment. I wish to follow trade wherever it leads me."

"Then an inclusive pass, extending as far south as Manchester, will meet your needs?" "It will more than meet them, general," said Armstrong, with supreme indifference. "As you carry no message from Traquair to the king I can write Oxford on your permit as easily as Manchester."

"Thank you, general; but Manchester will be far enough." "I may say that we are strict about and, holding it so that the light from the candles fell upon it, read aloud:

"Pass the bearer and one other, without or interference, from Carlisle to Oxford and return.

"The journey south will give you the opportunity to become acquainted with your man. On the northward march you must become possessed of what he carries, and when you bring it to me prometion. If you do not succeed before you reach Carlisle, then I must crush him, possibly kill him as a spy. Will you undertake it?"

"'Tis an ungracious office you would bestow upon me, sir. I had rather have him slay me, as God willed."

"There speaks youth!" cried Cromwell impatiently. "This man is a treacherous, lying spy, whose life by all the rules of war is already forfeit. I propose to discomfit him with his own weapons. Nay, more, I willingly save him from the destruction he merits. You are set to do him the greatest service one man can offer another. If you fail, he dies; if you succeed, he has probably a long life before him."

"Sir, you are in the right, and your argument is incontestable. I accept your command willingly."

A gleam of pleasure lit the rugged face of the general, for he was flattered to believe his prowess in controversy was no less potent than his genius in war. His voice softened perceptibly as he continued: "You save your country and at the Homer, O., Aug. 20.-James Broughdon, while at work on a gas well located on the Simmons farm, three and a lously injured Friday afternoon by baving his left hand caught in the rope-kuife. Mr. Broughton with another man, were drilling for gas and the drill became fastened in the well. They were endeavoring to loosen the tools and in order to do so had lowered the rope-knife into the well so they could cut the rope loose from the tools, this being accomplished they were drawing the knife from the well and when it reached the tor it struck the drillers bench and threw Mr. Broughdon off. In the fall his left hand struck the knife which penetrated the hand between the thumb and fist finger cutting into the palm of the haud. Dr. Buxton dressed the wound which required several stitches to close.

At twenty-four he was again promoted, this time to the position of superintendent in charge of the running of all the trains. He introduced an innovation which marked a decided advance step in railroading. Up to that time, it had not been considered practicable to run trains at night; when nightfall came, freight frains and passenger trains alike were 'sied up," their journeys to be :esumwell as by day, and proved it. His first night train from Cumberland to Baltimore marked an important epoch in railroading.—From Leslie's Monthly Magazine for September.

PREMONITION

That Lightning Would Strike Her House Was Followed By a Bolt That Stunned Them All.

Tiffin, O., 'Aug. 20.-Mrs. Walter Dagan of this city, foretold with un nistakable accuracy the visitation o bolt of lightning during an electrical storm one day this week. On the previous day she became firmly coninced that she was to be struck by lightning. She told her neighbors and members of the family of the strange premonition, but they laughed at her fears. Nevertheless she immediately secured insurance on the family house against lightning and had the policy placed in a safe repository.

That night she was unable to sleep because of her feeling of impending danger. The next day an electrical storm passed over Tiffin and the Dagan home was struck by lightning and very badly damaged. Mrs. Dagan
